What's still left to learn in implantology?

In a market that's saturated with offers, it's difficult for dental practitioners to choose how best to grow professionally, and on what topics they should focus. But there's one appointment that just shouldn't be missed, an appointment that offers science and useful indications for daily practice, an appointment that dedicates attention to evolving surgical techniques and innovative prosthetic options.

Our Premium Day event, now at its 17th edition, is an international congress that is indispensable in allowing the key concepts for long-term prosthetic success and healthy hard and soft tissues to be studied. It is also an ideal occasion to explore solutions that are less invasive than those offered by conventional implantology, for the greater satisfaction of both dentists and patients.

Premium Day is an unmissable opportunity to discuss new ideas, investigating multidisciplinary approaches and digital solutions that in the very near future could bring about major changes in your clinical practice.

This is also an invaluable moment for your entire team, a resource whose training and expertise represent a decisive added value for all aspects of your practice.

Don't get left behind... we're with you all the way!
